

Rick Tetzeli

Rick Tetzeli is co-author with Brent Schlender, of Becoming Steve Jobs, and editor-at-large of Fast Company magazine.

He was Fast Company's executive editor for five years, running the print magazine. He ran and conceived Time Inc.'s Assignment Detroit, in which Time, Fortune, Sports Illustrated, Money, CNNMoney.com, Essence and other Time Inc. properties all combined to cover the troubled city and region intensely for a year. The project has been called "unprecedented in journalism".

Prior to that, he was editor of Entertainment Weekly and deputy editor of Fortune. He lives in Brooklyn with his wife, Mari, and their three children.